Course Delivery

Virtual Workshop

Virtual workshop delivery is recommended for individuals that want to gain a deeper understanding of their capability area and enjoy hands-on learning in group environments. With a focus on practical application, each workshop consists of facilitated presentations and discussions, practical applications and interactive breakout rooms to work through a case study and activities to complete collaboratively.

Participants need to come prepared to engage with the topics, discuss the learning material and share their experiences with peers and the facilitator. Participants are encouraged to ask questions, try new ideas and share their knowledge. This event promotes open candid discussions in a trusted environment. Participants are given access to an online library of curated learning resources to support their learning and completion of assessments.

We provide an inclusive and respectful environment where participants can take risks, learn from mistakes, and actively contribute, leading to a more engaging and effective virtual learning experience. Active participation and mutual support are highly valued.

These workshops will maintain the confidentiality and privacy of all shared information. Sessions are not recorded.

Participants have four weeks to submit assessment tasks and are required to achieve a pass mark for both assessments to achieve a Micro-Credential verified badge.

Distance Self-Paced

Distance independent study mode is recommended for individuals that already have strong background and experience in the capability area, and/or may not be able to dedicate two full days to attend workshops. The learning resources provided are identical to the resources provided for virtual workshop delivery, with the case study activities to be undertaken independently throughout the six-week period.

Participants have six weeks to submit assessment tasks and are required to achieve a pass mark for both assessments to achieve a Micro-Credential verified badge.

For both delivery modes, participants can expect to undertake between 20-40 hours of study over the span of the micro-credential, although this may vary based on individual experience and knowledge.

Online Learning Resources

Here's what you can expect from the online learning resources:

- Core and supplementary resources: core resources provide essential information, while supplementary resources offer additional insights for deeper understanding. Neither of these resources are mandatory to complete but are highly recommended to support your learning experience and successful achievement of micro-credential badges.
- Choose your own adventure: materials are designed with flexibility, based on confidence and proficiency in each skill and knowledge area, participants can decide how much and what content to engage with. There are various formats of resources to support individual learning needs.
- Knowledge checks: there are reflection exercises to further apply learning and deepen capability before commencing the assessment component of the micro-credential
- Case study: tasks have been provided to put learning into practice and enhance participants' overall skill development in the capability areas and assist with assessment readiness.

Other Course Information

- Virtual Workshop session times: 10:00 am - 5:00 pm AEDT/AEST. These are not recorded.
- Access to the learning platform for workshop participants is provided five days prior to the workshop commencing. Access for distance delivery begins on the day of course commencement.
- Participants can expect 20-40 hours of study over four weeks (six weeks for distance delivery mode), although individual experiences may vary.
- Participants will obtain 32 CPD points for completing this course.
